Re Questions asked:

1. We see no need to amend your list, so no additions or exclusions.
2. We have no current audit requirement. So any audit fee will exceed our current levy which is zero. This means that if Turnover is less than £1M then no audit should be required on the declared Turnover figure.
3. No other direct comments. However it is noted that other railway levies, such as CAHA, BTP and CIRAS are also based upon Turnover. We would look to the ORR to secure consistency between the use of declared Turnover figures across the rail industry.
